The bullet-like passes of one Bob Heiser, 170-pound triple-threat quarterback for Ravenna, kept Coach Carl Schroeder's Salem High school Quakers from recording their second victory of the 1937 football season before some 6,000 people out at Belly stadium last night.

As it was, the Quakers battled Ravenna to a 13-13 tie, displaying a complete reversal of form over their showing of one week ago.

Had it not been for the passing of the rangy Ravenna quarterback, the Quakers would probably have chalked up another win. But Heiser was there with a splendid assortment of cannon-ball heaves which kept the Quakers on the defense throughout much of the second half after they had gained a 13 to 6 lead in the first half.

Showing marked improvement in both defensive and offensive play, the Quakers looked much different from the team which edged out a 14 to 0 victory over Sebring. If the Red and Black could have only discovered some means of halting Heiser's passes, the outcome of the contest would probably have been different.

Ravenna made no consistent gains through the Salem forward wall and consequently took to the air for the majority of its offensive work. The Quakers, on the other hand, tried few passes and concentrated mainly on smashing the Ravenna line to bits.

The Ravens attempted 19 passes during the game and Heiser, the key-man of the Portage county team's backfield, was on the throwing end of most of them. Eleven of the passes connected for a total gain of 126 yards, 16 more than the Ravens made by rushing.

Four of Ravenna's tosses were intercepted by alert members of the Salem secondary.

When Heiser was doing the passing there was practically nothing the Quakers could do but hope that the receiver would fumble. His tosses were hard and fast, traveling directly into the arms of the receiver and giving the Salem secondary little chance to get in front of the target.

Fast charging linemen made the Salem forward wall too tough for Ravenna to crack consistently, despite the fact that the Ravens were performing at a splendid performance at the end for the Quakers, while the remainder of the Salem forward wall, Mike Cerbu, Charles Wertz, Bob Kirchgessner, Leonard Rossell, Harold Fitzsimmons and Bob Minamy, did every bit as good.

Cerbu and Minamy did a fine job in backing up the Quakers' line on defense.

Olexa was again the shining light of the Red and Black backfield. Olexa did the majority of the ball carrying, reeling off several long gains with the aid of line blocking by Bill Malloy, Bud Dean and big Max Lutsch.

Pitt Heads for Another National Championship

University of Pittsburgh appears headed for another national football championship under the tutelage of wily Jock Sutherland. Blessed with an unusual amount of reserve strength, Sutherland also has on his squad such luminaries as Marshall Goldberg, sensational back, and Bill Daddio, All-American end of last year. Notre Dame, Nebraska, Duke and Fordham appear to be the main hurdles in the way to another trip to the Rose Bowl for the Panthers.

CHINESE, JAPS
FIGHT TO DRAWContinue Into Fifth Day
Of Battle for Shanghai
North StationBY JAMES A. MILLS
Associated Press Writer

SHANGHAI, Oct. 2.—Chinese and Japanese troops fought each other to a standstill today in the fifth day of battle for Shanghai's North Station, where the Chinese defense line is anchored only a stone's throw from the foreign settlement.

While Japanese warships in the Whangpoo river blanketed the area with a barrage of shells, planes dropped demolition bombs on Chinese and several burned, blackened areas formerly in Shanghai's foreign districts.

This correspondent again spent hours with the British Welsh Fusiliers, within close view of the desperate hand-to-hand combat centering around the Pantheon theater.

Chinese Holding On
At nightfall, the Chinese still were stubbornly holding the theater despite a series of Japanese thrusts to dislodge them.

Once, about mid-morning, I saw a Japanese patrol advance under cover of an armored car to a sand-bag barricade within 25 yards of a Chinese pillbox.

After spasmodic firing and several vain attempts by Japanese marines to dash into a row of foreign houses adjoining the theater, the patrol withdrew.

Columbiana county paid its $82,697 debt to the state for care of mental cases two months ago after the state threatened to hold up sales tax revenue.

MURDERS WIFE
AND HER LOVERFormer College Athlete
Tells Police He Has No Regrets

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT, Oct. 2.—William Hawthorne, 23-year-old former collegiate track star, faced a charge of murder today for pumping deadly bullets from two guns at his wife, Catherine, and John M. Barrett, in the Barrett home.

After the shooting yesterday Hawthorne went to a police station and said:

"I have shot my wife and her sweetheart."

Although Hawthorne and the former Catherine Fox were married at Ann Arbor March 27, 1936, while they both were students at Michigan State Normal college, they never lived together, and Mrs. Hawthorne was known generally as Miss Fox.

Last June Hawthorne left college, where he had become the champion collegiate pole vaulter of the state and broken other athletic records, and joined the Detroit police department.

"She was a beautiful red-haired girl," Hawthorne said last night. "I loved her so much I was sure I could make her happy."

At the Barrett residence upon Hawthorne's request his wife and Barrett confronted him. Sitting in the living room also was Mrs. Brownie Barrett, his rival's mother. There, Hawthorne said, his wife told him she loved Barrett.

"I asked Jack if he loved Kay enough to offer his life for her," Hawthorne related. "He said he would. I pointed a gun at Kay, but he made no move to save her. Instead he tried to slink through the wall. As he cringed I turned toward him and shot him. Then I turned toward Kay and shot her. x x x I shot again and again."

Hawthorne added, "I have no regrets. I committed this crime as ungrudgingly as though preparing for a record in a track meet."

Sues For $8,500
In Auto Collision

LISBON, Oct. 2.—Charging permanent injuries as a result of an auto accident occurring Aug. 29, 1936, near East Liverpool, Julia Pringle, Wellsville, filed suit Friday for $8,500 damages against Dominic Compretta, also of Wellsville.

The plaintiff states she was a passenger in a car operated by Vernon Hall at the time of the accident. She charges that a car driven by Compretta collided with the machine in which she was riding and accuses the latter of negligence.

The accident, according to the petition, occurred on the East Liverpool-Wellsville road. The plaintiff says she was confined to a hospital for three weeks and sustained permanent injuries to her nervous system.

LISBON, Oct. 2.—Climaxing a 10-day session, the Columbiana county grand jury late Friday afternoon reported 31 indictments, including a first degree murder count and 11 secret bills, the latter believed to pertain to gambling operations in the county.

The jury, which reported shortly after 4 p. m. to Common Pleas Judge W. F. Lones, will re-convene Monday when a further probe of gambling complaints is expected to be made.

Judge Lones ordered the investigation shortly after the bodies of two men, believed slain as the result of strife between opposing gambling factions, were found in the county.

One was that of Roy (Happy) Marino, reputed Youngstown underworld character and ex-convict. The other victim, whose body was found near Lisbon, has never been definitely identified.

Borgwardt Named

The murder indictment returned by the grand jurors is against Johannes (John) Borgwardt, 23, who, Sheriff Harry L. Gosney said, signed a statement admitting the shotgun slaying of Mrs. Ruth B. Cranston, 47, Westville farm woman and mother of the alleged slayer's divorced wife, Evelyn Mae Cranston, 20.

Mrs. Cranston, whom Borgwardt blamed for his marital troubles, was killed Aug. 10 by a shotgun charge fired through a window as she lay in bed reading a novel.

The jury ignored 16 complaints and continued four other cases. One hundred and seventy witnesses were examined.

Indictments range from shooting or cutting with intent to kill, to automobile theft, driving while drunk, reckless driving and non-support.

Among those indicted is Robert McNamara of Salem, who fired several shots at James Wright, Salem taxi driver, and then fled to Cambridge in Wright's taxi on May 1. McNamara, himself a former taxi driver, was caught later in Cleveland.

Morris Indicted

Two indictments were returned against Constable George H. Morris of Salem, charging him with driving while intoxicated and failing to stop when signalled by a state highway patrolman.

Others indicted and the accusations on which they will be arraigned are:

Wayne Wilson, Wellsville, assault and battery; Charles Fickes and Charles Cain, Wellsville, jointly indicted for larceny; Emmett Osgood, Salem, cutting with intent to wound; Anthony Walent, alias Tony Walent, Salem, driving while intoxicated; Roy King and William Atkinson, East Liverpool, jointly indicted for driving a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

George Mort, East Liverpool, malicious destruction of property; George Johnson, East Liverpool, non-support; Elmer Duke, alias Pip Duke, driving a motor vehicle without the owner's consent; John Taylor, Harold Oliver and Charles Monroe, East Liverpool, driving a car without the owner's consent; Arthur Duke, Elmer Duke and Pip Duke, robbery, East Liverpool.

John Hepner, Wayne township, threatening; Sam Kurtz, shooting with intent to kill; Harry Humphrey, East Liverpool, carrying concealed weapons; John Kerns, Salem, reckless driving.

The balance of the indictments are secret but will be made public following the apprehension of the individuals named.

Those against whom true bills were returned will be arraigned before Judge Lones the forepart of next week.

Justice Black Denies
He's Klansman Now

Hugo Black Before Microphone

Here is Hugo L. Black, newly appointed justice of the supreme court and former Alabama senator, before the microphone. His extended silence regarding charges that he had been a member of the Ku Klux Klan was broken when he made his historic address.

Black Unfit For Bench,
Consensus Of Majority
Of Editorial Comment

THE BOSTON TRAVELER (INDEPENDENT): "Hugo Black's pitiable defense of his political chicanery was both an insult and threat not alone to the three groups the Ku Klux Klan persecuted, but to every American, whatever his race or religion. The discussion is not ended. The American public does not accept the scolding. It may have to accept Hugo Black on the highest bench. To try a man loose from a $20,000 a year job is not always easy.

"What do you, Mr. President, think of it?"

NEW YORK WORLD-TELEGRAM: "Hugo Black's address to the nation was the work of a brilliant prosecutor suddenly turned to the defense. It was an eloquent plea for tolerance. It was clever. But, like too many of the recent happenings in the region of the Supreme Court, 'too damned clever' which was all but buried in the rose-bud of his rhetoric—I did join the Klan."

CLEVELAND NEWS: "Hugo Lafayette Black, Mr. Roosevelt's first gift to American justice, last night at last admitted what he could no longer deny. He confessed what had already been proved up to the hilt. 'His presence on the Supreme bench of the United States must be a never-ending insult to American ideals of government and American ideals of manhood. He is a disgrace to the court and a disgrace to the President whose reckless action put him there.'"

THE NEW YORK POST: "The statement leaves us, therefore, face to face with the chilling thought that a confessed member of the Klan has been able to rise to the Supreme Court. We look upon that precedent as vicious, regardless of all other considerations. We have not the faintest hope that Mr. Justice Black will resign. We do not see how he can be made to resign. But we repeat our belief that his resignation would be best for the country regardless of the very real personal tragedy involved."

SPRINGFIELD (MASS.) UNION (R.): "Nothing that Mr. Justice Black said in his belabored defense either alters the ground of his disqualification for a place on the Supreme Court or enhances his reputation for judicial temperament and discernment."

PORTLAND (ME.) EVENING EXPRESS (R.): "Mr. Justice Black in his radio speech last night in a manner cleared himself of any present connection with the Ku Klux Klan. But he demonstrated at the same time his utter unworthiness for the position to which he was appointed by a President of the United States."

JOINED ORDER,
THEN RESIGNEDLeaves No doubt He's Prepared To Take Place
On Bench

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Justice Hugo M. Black's emphatic denial that he is now a member of the Ku Klux Klan left no doubt today he will take his place on the supreme court bench next Monday.

For 12 minutes last night he broke all precedent to reply directly to those who have challenged, because of his Klan associations, his fitness to sit on the nation's highest tribunal.

Speaking slowly with a trace of soft southern drawl, Black told one of the largest American radio audiences on record:

"The insinuations of racial and religious intolerance made concerning me are based on the fact that I joined the Ku Klux Klan about 15 years ago."

Joined and Resigned
"I did join the Klan. I later resigned. I never rejoined. What appeared then, or what appears now, on the records of the organization, I do not know."

"I never have considered and I do not now consider the unsolicited card given to me shortly after my nomination to the senate as a membership of any kind in the Ku Klux Klan. I never used it. I did not even keep it."

The new justice sat alone in the modest living room of a friend's suburban residence. In an adjoining room were his wife and a score of other relatives and friends.

Far removed from the scene was President Roosevelt, whose nomination of Black stirred a controversy over senate confirmation, during which allegations of Klan membership first were made.

Mr. Roosevelt, driving from Olympia to Tacoma, Wash., apparently did not hear Black's address. Secretary James Roosevelt said the radio in his father's car was out of order, but radios in other cars in the caravan were turned on.

Critics have attacked Black's appointment to the supreme court with the contention that Klan affiliation would prejudice him against the interests of Jews, Catholics and Negroes. The allegation was made in a series of newspaper stories that after becoming a Klansman, Black had been given a life membership and that he still held it.

Some of his critics said their views had not changed by his speech. Senator Carter Glass (D-Va.), for instance, commented:

"I didn't think the appointment was a fit one and I don't think so now. He said nothing that changed my conception of what should be the type of person appointed to the supreme court."

Black's supporters, on the other hand, lauded his address. Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont.), leader of the fight against the Roosevelt court bill, said:

"I think the speech was a fine explanation. I am sure he will do his utmost to decide matters that come before him fairly and conscientiously."

Views Differ
Several senators said they believed the matter should be considered closed, although some members of congress indicated they would have something to say at the next session.

Acts On Injunction

LISBON, Oct. 2.—Common Pleas Judge W. F. Lones is expected to act today on an injunction suit filed by the East Liverpool Boat club against Walter Seederly, East Liverpool boat rental operator, and J. E. McGraw, occupant of a boat allegedly anchored to property leased by the club from the city.

The petition, filed two weeks ago, asks that the defendants be restrained from trespassing on the club's property. Testimony in the case was completed Friday after Judge Lones had previously overruled a demurrer asking that the petition be set aside on the grounds that it failed to establish sufficient cause of action.

Robbery Is Probed

LISBON, Oct. 2.—Deputy Sheriff Chris Pusey is investigating today the theft of a shotgun, watch and $5 in cash from the home of Holland Fisher at Maplewood, East Liverpool, last night.

It was the third time the Holland residence has been robbed in the last two years.

SHOCK TO THE NATION

Justice Black, in a dramatic and well done attempt on the radio last night to allay the fears of the nation that a Ku Kluxer had finally reached the Supreme Court, confirmed them instead.

The nation has had a great shock, not because a man who, for political or other reasons joined the Klan, has reached the Supreme Court, but because a President of the United States has placed him there.

The court can stand the shock of Justice Black sitting on the bench. President Roosevelt may not be that strong. The President's willingness to appoint a man, whether he be a former member, a life member, or a reformed member of the Klan, without looking most carefully into his character, is frightening to say the least. His loyal followers must have a deep sense of disappointment today.

If the Klan now is the vile and monstrous thing Justice Black says it is, if it jeopardizes racial and religious freedom, if it imperils constitutional safety, then it was even more vile and more monstrous 15 years ago when he swore allegiance to its principals and frightfulness. He was a member when it took courage for an Alabama politician to repudiate the Klan. He is not a member now; the Klan is defunct; no politician needs courage today to flail it as a menace.

Where do we sit today? The new Justice has made his confession and he definitely closes the incident. He has reformed from whatever he was guilty of a few years ago. He doesn't need the Klan now.

But what of the President? The country as a whole is nervous and apprehensive. If Mr. Black is a sample of what President Roosevelt intends to pack the Supreme Court with, and if the President still thinks he is going to pack the court, then the real fight on this issue hasn't really begun.

EIGHT YEARS TO LEARN

If experience is the best teacher, then Americans, being good pupils, should have learned something about their national economy.

It has been eight years since this country began to spur its sagging prosperity. It tried hope first. When that wasn't enough, it tried credit. But credit hasn't been enough either.

Prosperity still lags.

The inference to be drawn—the inference that is being drawn—is encouraging. It is that the national economy must be given food, not shots in the arm. It needs meat and potatoes, not stimulants.

Constructive critics are proposing closer attention to the fundamental elements of the capitalistic system. Before there can be a more abundant life there must be more abundance, is their conclusion.

They point out that production today still is short of the level which produced prosperity before the depression. This proves, they argue, that until production is raised to a much higher level there cannot be a recurrence of prosperity, because the population has increased.

The solution is expansion. The problem is to make expansion possible. This will be done when and if potential purchasers of durable goods (expansion materials) become actual buyers. That is the important way to create employment and buying power.

This means there must be assurance of stability to make long range commitments feasible. Railroads, for instance, must be enabled to buy the heavy, expensive equipment they need in order to enlarge their usefulness. Industries must be shown how they can safely increase their production capacity. Potential home builders must be convinced it is practical for them to incur financial obligations.

These are the meat and potatoes of real prosperity. In various ways the national economy is being deprived of its basic nourishment. Eight years after the beginning of the depression and five years after its climax, real prosperity is still around the corner.

The national economy must be looked at as a reality, not as a set of suppositions. Just because the horse quit pulling the cart eight years ago is no reason for trying to put the harness on the cart.

THE STARS SAY :

For Sunday, October 3

Sunday's horoscope, according to the lunar transits, holds promise of rather dubious and possibly treacherous conditions, with both open and secret enemies or quarrels to be met with sagacity. Writings seem to be an aggravating cause for such disruptions, ill will and ominous situations, so be cautious and calm.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a rather disturbed and inharmonious year, with quarrels, tumult and violent reactions to either writings or ill-governed speech. Rancor, treachery and ill will precipitate a very disagreeable state of affairs unless managed with calm judgment and good sense.

A child born on this day may have a rash, impetuous, wayward and self-indulgent nature, although energetic, talented and clever. It should have early training and discipline to overcome these irritable tendencies.

For Monday, October 4

Monday's astrological forecast is for a particularly lively and successful day, with employment under splendid auspices for favors, preferment, promotion or increase. All pertaining to writings, publishing, publicity and promotions should flourish, with new contracts and all sorts of new matters under fine stimuli for progress and satisfaction.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a very lively and progressive year, with employment under excellent promise for favors, preferment and promotion. All pertaining to writings, contracts, publishing, all new matters are under very auspicious rule for expansion and success, with some important developments or changes.

A child born on this day may be very versatile, clever, ambitious and should attain excellent position and much personal happiness in life.

O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Until recently I had not attended a funeral since 14. At that time I was emotionally upset by the services for a playmate, killed in a hunting accident, that I was in a state of hysteria, struggling to keep from laughing instead of joining the weepers.

Those muffled sobbings, with now and then the agonized shriek of parents, left an indelible mark. I still see the solemn undertaker and hear the lugubrious lilt of the wheezy organ and walls at the open grave. The feeling was hopeless—of inevitable doom.

But much of this gloom seems to have vanished at the modern funeral. There are no mourners swathed in crepe nor swooning at the bier. Eyes are not always dry, of course, but the chapels somehow are surcharged with a hope the departed may be going away only for a little while.

Preachers are no longer wringing hearts with poignant panegyrics. There are no tip-toelings and attitudes of shush. Many services are restricted to the mere reading of some Psalm full of promise, a benediction and a solo chanting hope of a better world ahead.

I know a man who sends those bereaved a copy of the anonymously written essayette "The Ship." It reads: "I am standing upon the seashore. A ship at my side spreads her sails in the morning breeze and starts for the blue lagoon."

"She is an object of beauty and strength and I stand and watch her until at length she is only a ribbon of white cloud just where the sea and sky come to mingle with each other. Then some one at my side says: 'There! She's gone!'

"Gone where? Gone from my sight—that is all. And just at the moment when some one at my side says: 'There! She is gone!' There are other voices to take up the glad shout: 'There! She comes!'

Newspapers have done much to blunt the sting of Death as have writers of fiction. The rather terrorizing term Death is not often used any more. Not even demise or passing away. The term is now "Passing on." That is what most of us believe—no matter our faith—that we pass on to at least another state of consciousness, with perhaps a clearer realization of life and its infinitude.

One of my established friends until his passing a few years ago was a venerable doctor with years of general practice. He often stood by, helpless, while the so called King of Terrors paid ruthless visit. And he liked to compare such visitation to the gentle opening and closing of a door through which someone suddenly passed. Invariably he noticed that before actual dissolution there was a slight and convulsive twitch, and then as though one had faced a horror that did not exist a relaxing of facial muscles into almost beatific expression—indeed often a faint smile.

One notices, too, a change in the decor of funeral parlors and chapels. There is little to suggest grief, but rather studied cheerfulness. Bright flowers that seem to whisper tranquility and peace. Attendees do not move about in long-faced solemnity. They are brisk and alert, and while sympathetic not mawkishly so. Funerals were once forums of frenzied despair. All that has passed for a sane feeling of loss—but not one that is permanent. More and more is death viewed as temporary separation.

The young generation has banished much fear that afflicted many when our world was juvenile. We lived in fear of the Unknown and went away quaking after hearing the Hell Fire and Brimstone sermons. The souls of modern youth are not hung with the dull weight of intolerable Fate. They absorb all phases of life with the zest of thirsty earth soaking up rain, and find it refreshing. The world war showed how the young could die gallantly.

RABIES

A RECENT editorial in a medical journal gives timely warning of the ever-increasing occurrence of dog bites. During hot weather more than 100 persons were bitten by dogs daily on one of the streets of a large eastern city. This was more than a 50 per cent increase in the number of bites over a similar period of 1936.

The danger of a rabies resulting from dog bites is not only a local or national affair, but apparently appears to be an international problem. The Sixth Analytical Review on the Results of Anti-Rabies Treatment, published by the League of Nations, shows that this is indeed a serious problem.

It points out that the mortality among 286,373 Europeans was 0.16 per cent and in the case of 219,981 non-Europeans the mortality rate was 0.72 per cent. Another interesting point mentioned in the Review was that 12 out of 2,500 persons bitten on the limbs and beginning treatment within a week, developed rabies, and each of the 12 developed rabies within 30 days after having been bitten.

Constant Vigilance
The need for constant vigilance in starting early treatment cannot be overstated. In fact, it is our only means of combating this dreaded disease.

Although rabies is prevalent at all times of the year, it is especially common during the summer months. Children should be discouraged from playing with strange dogs and particularly those that are sullen or cross. If a child or adult receives a bite from a dog, medical attention is necessary. The wound should immediately be cauterized with nitric acid.

In addition to care of the wound, it is imperative that the dog be observed. It can be readily seen that if a dog is found to be diseased, the Pasteur treatment for rabies should be started at once. Under no circumstances should a bite from a pet or a strange dog be neglected.

Rabies, or hydrophobia, as the doctors call it, is a disease of animals transmitted to mankind by a bite. The germs are carried through the saliva of the diseased animal. Contrary to a common belief, it cannot be transmitted in any other way.

"THE SILVER ROOD MYSTERY"

by Lewis Allen Browne

SYNOPSIS
During an afternoon party on the lawn of Major Forrest's place, Gerard Monteth, extremely wealthy man of 50, living on the adjoining estate is murdered. Monteth's wife, Mary, his niece, to marry Forrester's son, David, and said he would disinherit her if she refused. Mary is secretly in love with an artist, Howard Griswold. Forrester's son, Howard Griswold, writer of crime mysteries, is asked to help solve the mystery. He finds that Monteth was killed with a knife. This was hanging on the wall in another room from where Monteth was found. Mary, it is learned, left the party for a half hour that afternoon. Griswold, ordered to keep away from Monteth, weeks before, was also on the grounds. Mary, however, swears he was not there. Jackson, the maid is questioned and catches her breath when asked if any stranger called.

CHAPTER VII
"Someone you recognized?" I asked quickly.
"Yes sir, this afternoon. I came down to move the candelabra out of the hot sun at the end window; I had forgotten it at noon. I saw Morin going into the library."
We exchanged glances.
"What time?" Foxcroft demanded.

"Sometime after three o'clock, sir."

"Who is Morin?" I asked.
"The new up-stairs maid, sir."
"What did she say?"
"She didn't see me. I moved the bird and left."

"She sent Morin in. She surprised me, there was so much dash and beauty about her. No one would ever have taken her for a maid."

"Did you go into the library porch this afternoon, Miss?" Harper asked in the soft voice he can use on occasion.

"Yes sir."
"What time?"
"After three. He was asleep in the hammock. I didn't disturb him."

"What did you want to see him about?"
She hesitated.
"A private matter," she finally said.

"A private matter?"
Sergeant Harper's voice lost its velvet tone.

"A personal matter," the girl corrected him.

"I noticed that she did not say 'sir' to every question, as did the other servants."

"What is your name?"
"Miss Morin."
"Your full name."
"Miss Nola Morin."

None of the others had added "Miss" when asked their name. I was sure, by this time, that the really handsome woman—she looked to be twenty-five—was no more a trained maid than I was.

"How long have you worked here?"
"Two weeks."

"Well, we have to know what that personal matter was," Harper barked at her.

"Why?"
She asked it coldly, almost insolently.

Nola Morin leaned toward Sergeant Harper, her eyes wide with amazement. "Do you mean he was killed?"

"Because Mr. Monteth didn't die a natural death!"

Nola Morin leaned toward Sergeant Harper, her eyes wide with amazement, or else she was a clever actress.

"He didn't what? Do you mean he was killed?"

"Murdered. Now what was your personal matter with him?"

"Try and find out. I mean—you see, it doesn't matter now, anyway. It's too late."

"You walked in there and killed him!"

Harper fairly bellowed this at her.

"You're crazy!" was her instant reply. She seemed to be quite composed, other than showing annoyance. Foxcroft whispered to Harper, who nodded and turned to me.

"Ask her about it, if you wish, Mr. Stevenson," he said.

"Miss Morin," I asked, as reassuringly as I could, "how long have you known Mr. Monteth?"

"So far as I know, I never set eyes on him until I came here two weeks ago."

"How did you happen to apply to him for the position?"

"I didn't apply. A friend of mine, knowing I needed work, had this job. She was going away—to be married—she got me to take her place."

"I see. You were glad to get the work?"

"Naturally."

"Who was the former maid?"

"A Miss Hutton."

Theater Attractions

Next week's billings at the State theater are varied and promise an assortment of screen entertainment from musical comedy to mystery drama.

The musical comedy comes first. "Varsity Show", which features Dick Powell, Fred Waring and his Pennsylvaniaans, Ted Healy, Walter Catlett, Priscilla and Rosemary Lane, Johnny Davis and Poley McClinton, "Buck and Bubbles" and other musical comedy favorites, will be seen at the State Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

On Wednesday and Thursday, State patrons will see two pictures: "Annapolis Salute", with James Ellison, who scored such a hit as Buffalo Bill in "The Plainsman", the veteran actor Harry Carey, Marsha Hunt and Van Heflin; and "Forty Naughty Girls", teaming Zasu Pitts and James Gleason in another Police Inspector Oscar Piper and Hildegarde Withers murder story.

Chan Is Booked

The popular Charlie Chan, played by Warner Oland, returns to the State Friday and Saturday in "Charlie Chan on Broadway". Key Luke and Joan Marsh are seen in supporting roles.

Showing for the last times tonight at the State is "Wife, Doctor Nurse", featuring Loretta Young, Warner Baxter and Virginia Bruce.

One of the finest recent films, "Dead End", taken from the highly successful stage play, comes to the Grand theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The cast, besides the same group of youngsters who played in the stage production as the gang of beginners in crime, includes Sylvia Sydney, Joel McCrea, Humphrey Bogart, Wendy Barrie, Claire Trevor and Allen Jenkins.

"Dead End" has received the highest praise of critics. It is the story of a New York district where the back of Park Avenue luxury meets the most miserable of tenement poverty.

Principal Characters
Joel McCrea and Sylvia Sydney, children of the tenements, both with the dream in their hearts of giving their kind a break they've never had, are the central characters. McCrea meets and falls in love with a society girl, Wendy Barrie, who is afraid of poverty and takes the easier way of living.

Humphrey Bogart, who grew up in the same tenement with Sylvia and McCrea, turns gangster, gets sent to prison. When he comes out he finds his sweetheart, Claire Trevor, has become a woman of the streets. He starts to organize a juvenile gang of criminals, among them Miss Sydney's young brother. Events end in his death by McCrea's bullets.

One of the early talkie hits, "Billy the Kid", starring Johnny Mack Brown and Kay Johnson, will show at the Grand Wednesday and Thursday. It is the story of notorious William Bonney, who, at 21, was reputed the most dangerous

SALEM, RAVENNA BATTLE TO 13-13 DEADLOCK.

Bob Heisler's Cannon-Ball Passes Keep Quakers From Gaining 2nd Grid Victory

Passing of Ravenna Quarterback Pushes Salem Back In Own Territory In Second Half; Quakers Lead 13 to 6 In First Half

Olexa intercepted two of Ravenna's passes, while Dean dragged down one. The other Salem interception was made by Stu Wise, who replaced Malloy in the second quarter and Dean in the fourth period.

Lutsch had no chance to drag in any of the Ravenna aerials since he was shifted to the left end position when the Quakers were on defense. He seemed to benefit from the change, doing better work here than he did last week at the defensive fullback post.

Olexa scored both of the Quakers' touchdowns in the second period, going over from the four-yard stripe on the one and plunging from the one-yard marker to make the other. Lutsch converted the extra point via the place kick route after the first score but failed on the second.

Salem threatened to score again in the second quarter, advancing the ball from the Ravenna 39 to the half-yard marker before the Ravens held for downs.

A forward-lateral pass play set the stage for Ravenna's first score in the opening quarter. Dave Palozzi heaved a 15-yard toss to Heisler, who took the ball on the Salem 30, and raced to the 20 before laterally passing to Keiselbach, who was brought to the ground on the Salem 10. Two plays later Heisler went over for a touchdown.

Ravenna marked up its other touchdown in the third quarter to tie the score. Heisler went over from the one-foot line after a pass and five running plays brought the ball into this spot from the Salem 17. The Ravens received the ball on the 17 after one of Malloy's punts was partially blocked and Heisler picked it up on the Salem 35 and raced 18 yards along the east sidelines.

In addition to its two touchdowns, Ravenna threatened to score on two other occasions. In the latter part of the second period, a series of Heisler passes advanced the ball from the 30-yard stripe to the Salem 10. Three running plays failed before Ravenna passed incomplete over the goal line.

Early in the fourth quarter, a Ravenna threat was stopped when the Salem line held three times within its own 10-yard zone and then forced Heisler to pass incomplete over the goal.

The latter part of the third quarter saw both teams playing safe defensive ball, waiting for a "break" which might bring a touchdown and victory. Dame Fortune smiled on Salem twice during this time, once when Olexa intercepted a pass near mid-field and another time when Schaeffer recovered a Ravenna fumble in the same territory. The Quakers were unable to take advantage of either "break".

Here's how the play went by periods:

Malloy's kickoff was taken by Tamburro on the Ravenna 35 and returned to the Ravenna 39. Three running plays netted nine yards gain before Heisler punted to Dean, who fumbled on the 24 and was downed on the Salem 14 after picking up the ball and attempting to run.

Olexa in three plays made seven yards and Malloy kicked to Palozzi, who received the ball on the Salem 45 and brought it back to the Salem 41. Ravenna received a five-yard penalty for backfield in motion and Schaeffer dropped Druggan for a 17-yard loss. Heisler's punt was taken by Olexa on the Salem 15 and returned to the Salem 26. Lutsch was unable to get full control of a low pass from center and the Quakers lost 13 yards. Malloy's punt on the next play was low and the ball was downed by Schaeffer on the Salem 44. Keiselbach replaced Druggan for Ravenna after the kick.

Both teams were offside before Palozzi dropped back and whipped a 15-yard pass down the center alley to Heisler, who took the ball on the run and made his way to the 20-yard stripe before laterally passing to Keiselbach, who was dropped on the Salem 10. In two smashes at the right side of Salem's line, Heisler took the ball over for Ravenna's first touchdown. Palozzi's attempted place kick was blocked by a mob of Salem linemen.

Olexa took Heisler's kickoff on the Salem 10 and carried it to the Salem 32. On the second play after the kick-off he raced to the Ravenna 44 after locating a big hole through the Ravens' left side of the line. Three running plays failed to net first down yardage and on fourth down Olexa faked back and tossed a 33-yard pass, which was taken by Lutsch on the Ravenna 11. Olexa hit center for seven yards to place the ball on the Ravenna 4 as the quarter ended.

On the first play of the second period, Olexa piled through the center of the line for a touchdown. Lutsch place-kicked perfectly for the extra point to place Salem in the lead, 7 to 6.

After getting Malloy's kick-off back to the Ravenna 40, Heisler completed four straight passes before Dean intercepted his fifth toss on the Salem 20 and raced along the sidelines to the 50. Olexa in five plays, aided by good blocking by Salem linemen and backs, brought the ball to the Ravenna 10. Three more plays with Olexa totting the ball gained to the Ravenna 3. Wise replaced Malloy and sent Olexa at right tackle, but Ravenna held and took the ball on downs.

Heisler punted on first down, Dean receiving on the Ravenna 30 and returning to the 27. Olexa's 20-yard pass was taken by Schaeffer, who was dropped on the Ravenna 8 after attempting to circle two Ravens' backs. Olexa raced around Salem's right end to place the ball on the two. Ravenna was penalized half the distance to the goal when a substitution was made, advancing the ball to the one from where Olexa went over for Salem's second touchdown.

Lutsch's attempted place kick was low, barely leaving the ground. Again after Salem's kickoff, Heisler began throwing passes and in six tosses, all to Palozzi, he advanced the ball from the Ravenna 42 to the Salem 6. The Quakers held for three downs and Heisler's pass over the goal line was knocked down just before the half ended.

Dean fumbled Heisler's kick-off at the start of the second half, but picked it up on the Salem 5 and returned to the Salem 21. Olexa lost three before Malloy's punt was partially blocked. The kick was taken by Heisler on the 35 and returned to the Salem 17. Heisler made two yards on a plunge before his pass to Tamburro advanced the ball to the Salem 5-yard stripe. Palozzi tried two running plays to make three yards. Heisler gained one-half yard then drove through the middle of the line to score Ravenna's second touchdown. Palozzi raced wide around Ravenna's right end to score the extra point and tie the score at 13 to 13.

Malloy returned Heisler's kick-off to the Salem 35 before the Quakers were forced to punt after three running plays were stopped with no big gain. Two Ravens' running plays gained five yards. Heisler then tossed a flat pass from his own 22-yard stripe to Palozzi, who was dropped on the Salem 17. Heisler attempted a quick kick which rolled over the goal line.

The teams exchanged punts three times during the remainder of the second period with the Quakers fighting in their own territory and waiting for a break to get into Ravenna ground.

Just after the opening of the fourth quarter Olexa stole a pass from the arms of a Ravenna receiver.

er and made his way for five yards before being pushed out of bounds. Salem then tried a pass and the ball was intercepted by Glass, who was dropped on the Ravenna 49.

Heisler again started pushing Salem back with passes and completed two aerials to take the ball to the Salem 10. Ravenna advanced to the six-yard line in three plays. The scoring threat was halted when a fourth down pass was knocked down over the goal.

Salem took the ball on the 20 and Olexa reeled off two nice gains before the Quakers were penalized 15 yards for illegal use of the hands. Malloy then punted to the Ravenna 49 where Palozzi fumbled and Schaeffer recovered for Salem. The Quakers punched at the Ravenna line four times, but failed to make first down by inches and Ravenna took the ball.

Heisler hit center to move to the Salem 43 before Olexa intercepted his pass to give Salem the ball on its own 41. The Quakers made a first down, but another 15-yard penalty for illegal use of the hands brought the ball back to the Salem 35. Malloy then kicked and Palozzi took the ball on the Ravenna 48. Heisler hurt his leg in making a five-yard gain and Palozzi took over the passing duties. His first toss was intercepted by Wise, who had replaced Dean. Wise got the ball on the Salem five and returned it to the Salem 19. A pass failed and a wide end run by Olexa gained 10 yards as the game ended.

Dayton Grid Team Off To Flying Start In Buckeye Conference

BUCKS DEFEND RECORD TODAY IN LOOP GAME

Purdue Hasn't Scored In Previous Games With Ohio State

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Oct. 2.—Purdue's vaunted Boilermakers, with Halfback Cecil Isbell as their chief scoring threat, and Ohio State's Bucks, a "starless" but well-balanced team, tangled on the turf at Ohio stadium today in their opening Western conference football fray before a crowd of about 50,000.

More than a single game result tottered in the balance as acting Coach Mal Eward of the Purdue had the situation sized up correctly.

"If we can get by Ohio," Eward said, "we should go through the rest of the schedule undefeated. And if Ohio gets by us, then Ohio should have plenty to say about the Big Ten title."

The Bucks and Boilermakers haven't met since 1924—the series breaking up after Ohio had taken five in a row without allowing the Purdue a single point. Despite the fact Purdue has never beaten or scored on the Bucks, the Hoosier squad went into today's fray a slight favorite—Isbell's presence giving the visitors that edge.

Should Purdue score, tradition favors them, for the three teams which crossed Ohio's goal line last year emerged victorious. The five which lost to the Bucks failed to garner a point. On the other hand, Ohio has been blanked by only one of them in 25 attempts since Coach Francis A. Schmidt took over the reins, Pittsburgh's juggernaut registering a 6 to 0 win a year ago.

The squads went into today's contest in fine physical shape, the Bucks having a slight weight advantage and the Boilermakers conceding an edge in speed and passing ability. The game was slated to be a wide-open affair.

Hank Greenberg Threatens Loop Runs-Batted-In Mark

Detroit Slugger Has Chance To Tie or Break Lou Gehrig's American League Record

By SID FEDER.
Give Hank Greenberg a hand, folks.

In the dying moments of the major league season, when it's hard to find anything startling to report, and harder still to sit and watch the antics of the newly-imposed rookies and the also-rans, Hank is taking his big bat in hand and doing his "darnedest" to make it interesting.

The point at issue is whether the Detroit dynamiter can equal or tie Lou Gehrig's American league record of 184 runs batted in for a season. Hank has been sneaking up on the Gehrig mark of 1931 in recent weeks, and now has accumulated a total of 179 runs driven in.

He has two games more in which to send five across to the mark, six to break it. If he can do through the final two tilts what he did yesterday, Gehrig's mark is as good as gone.

Greenberg added six more to his total yesterday as the Tigers trampled the Browns, 14-4. He clouted two homers, each with two mates on base, and added a double for good measure. The homers were his 39th and 40th, five back of Joe DiMaggio.

The Dodgers, after setting the season's longest losing streak of 14 straight during visits to the National League's seven other parks, came home and ended the run with a 7-4 win over the Giants.

Lefty Gomez, after winning five straight pitching victories, failed to make it six in his final tune-up before the World Series. The Boston Red Sox tagged "El Goofy" for three runs in the first inning and went on to a 4-1 win.

McDonough's Long Dashes Defeat Wesleyan Eleven; Wooster Beaten In Upset

Dayton Comes Through With 19-7 Victory Over Ohio Wesleyan; John Carroll Beats Wooster; Findlay Gains First Win Since 1935

(By Associated Press.)

If long runs make a football winner, then Dayton's flyers are all set.

Their ace back, McDonough, uncorked sprints of 72 and 24 yards last night against Ohio Wesleyan as the Gem City team won the season's first Buckeye conference clash, 19 to 7.

Marshall, another Buckeye outfit, showed power in driving over Western Maryland, 21 to 0, in another of five college games of intensive Ohio interest.

John Carroll stole a spectacular 20-13 decision from Wooster with two last period touchdowns; little Findlay college won its first game since 1935 when it toppled Bluffton, 15-6, and Ohio Northern and Denison fought to a scoreless Ohio conference draw.

Wesleyan scored first on Lou Banks' 41-yard run in the opening period. Banks swept wide around Dayton's end, reversed and dashed over the goal.

But the margin was not for long. A four-yard pass, Thomas to Padley, climaxed a Dayton march from its own 35 for the first of two second-period touchdowns. Then McDonough got away on the 72-yard dash, following with his other long scoring sprint in the last quarter.

Findlay's triumph, featured by tackle Gene Crawford's 24-yard touchdown run on a partially blocked pass, came after it had lost all seven of its 1936 contests and gave little Findlay college some hope of ending its string of 17 consecutive losses against Mount Union in one of 18 games on the Ohio collegiate card today.

Carroll played ragged football but at times displayed impressive power in knocking off the scrappy Wooster eleven.

Ohio Northern's alert line broke up Murphy's attempted place kick in the last minute of the close battle with Denison to keep it a scoreless tie.

All this action was preliminary to several noteworthy Ohio clashes today.

Purdue was slightly favored over Ohio State at Columbus; Miami, Buckeye co-champion, meets Ohio conference titlist Marietta at Oxford and Western Reserve hoped to run its unbeaten string to 25 against Hillsdale, Mich., as two champions of other state conferences invaded Ohio.

Kalamazoo, winner last year of Michigan's intercollegiate crown, meets Wittenberg at Springfield and Butler, the Indiana titlist the last two seasons, faces the University of Cincinnati.

Xavier was given an outside chance against the University of Cincinnati in another battle on a heavy program which sees four Ohio conference encounters.

Bowling Green is at Baldwin-Wallace, Heidelberg at Kent State, Otterbein at Kenyon and Capital at Case. Other tilts on the Saturday slate include Western Kentucky Industrial at Wilberforce; Georgetown at Toledo; Wayne (Detroit) at Akron; Rochester at Oberlin; Northwestern-Iowa State and Illinois-DePaul in the mid-west.

Among the leading tune-up games were Yale-Maine, Harvard-Springfield and Dartmouth-Amherst in the east, and Notre Dame-Drake, Northwestern-Iowa State and Illinois-DePaul in the mid-west.

A rich list of intersectional contests throughout the country were headed by Army-Clemson, Navy-Citadel, Princeton-Virginia, Pennsylvania-Maryland, Vanderbilt-Cornell, Colorado-Missouri and Louisiana State-Texas. The last named was expected to draw the south's largest crowd, some 20,000, and furnish, perhaps, one of the day's closest tussles.

Among the leading tune-up games were Yale-Maine, Harvard-Springfield and Dartmouth-Amherst in the east, and Notre Dame-Drake, Northwestern-Iowa State and Illinois-DePaul in the mid-west.

Need Road Funds

LISBON, Oct. 2.—Unity township trustees filed a petition in common pleas court Friday requesting permission to transfer $3,000 from the general fund to the road fund. The transfer was petitioned on the grounds that insufficient money remained in the road fund to make necessary repairs. It stated the trustees had $5,155.84 in the general fund of which $3,000 was not needed for operating expenses.

Auto Sales Drop

LISBON, Oct. 2.—Automobile sales in Columbiana during September showed a decrease of nearly 30% cars. The report was compiled by Clerk of Court's Carl Stacey's office.

BLACK DENIES HE'S KLANSMAN

Admits That He Joined Order, But Says He Later Resigned

Albert Levitt, former federal judge in the Virgin Islands, who has brought suit to prevent Black from holding his seat, said the speech was a "splendid statement" of Black's "own tolerance in all matters affecting religious freedom" and that it disposes of the Klan issue.

"His speech, however, did not in any way affect the question I have raised concerning his eligibility under the Constitution to serve as an associate justice of the supreme court," Levitt said in New York.

The suit is based on the contention the new justice was a member of congress when it passed the supreme court retirement act. This, Levitt argued, increased the emoluments of justices by giving them full pay even if retired.

He cited the constitutional bar against a congressman holding an office whose emoluments have been increased during his term.

Levitt's request to present arguments will come before the court Monday shortly after Black takes his seat. The justices may reject it at once or may agree to hear arguments for and against the plea.

Criticizes Discard Effort
Black's speech, in which he said he believed his record as a senator refutes any implication of intolerance, criticized any "program" of "effort" to arouse discord among the nation's religious or racial groups.

"I have no sympathy," he said, "with any organization which, anywhere or at any time, arrogates to itself the un-American power to interfere in the slightest degree with complete religious freedom. 'No words have ever been or ever will be spoken by me, directly or indirectly, indicating that any native or foreign-born person in our free country should or could be restricted in his right to worship according to the dictates of his conscience.'"

Black said in firm tones that the public has heard the last from him on the Klan issue.

"When this statement is ended," he said, "my discussion of the question is closed."
